

Lucy Stokes

Biography

Lucy Stokes is a Senior Research Fellow at the National Institute of Economic and Social Research (NIESR), where she has worked since 2003. Her principal research interests cover issues relating to employment, education and public sector performance. Lucy was part of the research team for the 2011 Workplace Employment Relations Survey (WERS), contributing to both the design and analysis of the survey. As such, she is one of the co-authors of the primary analysis of the 2011 WERS, reported in the 2011 WERS First Findings and in the book Employment Relations in the Shadow of Recession. This followed on from her involvement in the former WERS 2004 Information and Advice Service, where she provided help and support to users of the WERS data.
